AN INDEX TO ILLUSTRATIONS OF APPLES.

Compiled by E. A. BUNYARD, F.R.H.S.

THIS Index has been compiled to assist those engaged in pomological research. The excellent figures of fruits which exist are often overlooked on account of their inaccessibility and the time demanded for a search through each separate volume for the desired illustration.

SYNONYMS.

The question of synonyms has not been touched, except in cases where it is quite obvious, as, for example, 'Duchess of Oldenburgh'; synonyms, 'Barovitsky,' 'Borovinka,' 'Charlamowska,' &c.

INDEXING.

The difficulties in connexion with indexing are many, and, after consideration of the various systems, class-grouping has been adopted. Pippins, for example, will all be found under the heading "Pippin," which, where necessary, is subdivided, as "Pippin, Golden," "Pippin, Golden, Hughes'," &c. The bringing together of varieties and their sub-varieties is thus possible.

LIST OF WORKS INDEXED AND REMARKS ON THE PLATES.

Abhandlung von der Obstbaumen. Johann Kraft. 1792.

Plates of fair merit, showing foliage and wood. Apples are not contained in this work. Names in German and French.

Album de Pomologie. A. Bivort. 1848 et seq.

Drawing and colouring variable, the later volumes showing much improvement. Fruit, spurs, and foliage shown.

Annales de Pomologie Belge et Etrangère. Par la Commission Royale de Pomologie. 1853 et seq.

Carefully drawn, but not so well coloured. Foliage and spurs included,

Der Deutsche Obstgärtner. Sickler. 1794. 22 vols.

The date of this work gives value to the illustrations. The drawing and colouring are of course somewhat crude. The fruit only is shown in most cases.

Deutsche Pomologie. W. Lauche. 1882.

Plates good. No foliage, but flowers well figured in nearly all cases.

Flora and Pomona. Mackintosh. 1827.

The drawing and colouring of the plates are of medium merit.

Fruits of America. F. M. Hovey. 1851. 2 vols.

The plates are lithographs of no great merit. Young wood, spurs, and leaves are shown.

Herefordshire Pomona. Henry Graves Bull and Dr. Robert Hogg. 1876-85.

The colouring is fairly good; small fruiting spurs are generally shown, but no young wood. The leaves are not drawn with any real accuracy, and are not always shown.

La Flore et Pomone Française. M. J. St. Hilaire. 1828.

The plates are third rate.

Le Jardin Fruitier. Noisette. 1821 (1st Ed.)

Leaves, flowers, and seeds are shown as well as fruits in most cases. Apples are not well-coloured.

Le Verger. A. Mas. 1872-1883.

Plates carefully drawn and moderately-well coloured.

Magyar Pomologia. Etienne Molnar. 1900-1909.

Large folio plates of artistic merit illustrating fruits of Hungarian origin and showing foliage. Text in Magyar and French.

Pomologia. Johann N. Knoop. 1758.

Fruit alone figured. Drawing fair, colouring rather crude, but by no means mechanical. Important as an early book with coloured figures.

Pomologie de la France. Par le Congrès Pomologique. 1869 et seq.

Young wood and foliage shown with the fruits. Colouring and drawing careful and generally good.

Pomologia Britannica. J. Lindley. 1841. 3 vols.

The fruits, leaves, and wood are generally shown, and are on the whole well coloured. The drawing is excellent. This was first published in 1828-30 as the Pomological Magazine in 3 vols.

Pomona Franconica. Jean Mayer. 1776.

Plates fair in colour and careful in drawing, showing that details of the eye, core, &c., were well appreciated. Text in German and French. French titles are given where the name is in that language.

Pomona Herefordiensis. Knight. 1811.

Plates showing fruit, leaves and wood in the best style.

Pomona Italiano. Giorgio Galesio. 1817.

A large and important work, but the execution of the plates is very unequal. Some are of high merit, and many are extremely bad. Figs are the important feature of this work, and are well delineated in all cases.

Pyrus Malus Brentfordiensis. Hugh Ronalds. 1831.

The fruits alone are shown, but with great accuracy of detail in drawing and colour. Without doubt the finest reproductions of apples published in this country.

Svensk Pomona. Olaf Eneroth. 1864-1866.

Plates not numbered, and so are given in order of appearance. They are coarsely coloured and badly drawn. It is included for the sake of a few Swedish varieties not depicted elsewhere.

The Apples of New York. S. A. Beach. 1905. 2 vols.

The fruit alone is figured, the process of reproduction being three-colour work of merit, but it suffers from the disadvantages of all photographic work—the lack of emphasis of important detail.

Traité des Arbres Fruitiers de Duhamel du Monceau. Poiteau et Turpin. 1835.

This fine work stands first for completeness, and the plates are of great merit. The colouring of the fruits is good, but the leaves are not well done.

Transactions of the Royal Horticultural Society. London. Series 1 and 2. 1805-1848.

The colour-work and drawing of the plates are magnificent. Foliage and wood are shown in many cases.

This index will be followed by similar ones dealing with Pears, Plums, and other fruits. The compiler hopes that inaccuracies, almost unavoidable when dealing with so large a number of references, may be pointed out to him.

AN INDEX TO ILLUSTRATIONS OF PEARS.*

Compiled by E. A. BUNYARD, F.R.H.S.

NOTE.—To the works cited in the Index of Apples (pp. 152 to 174) must be added,

Le Jardin Fruitier du Muséum. J. Decaisne, 1858-68.

This work deals largely with Pears. The plates are of the highest perfection, and the accurate drawing, colouring, and suggestion of texture are not approached by any other work that has come under our notice. The fruits, foliage, and current year's wood are figured.
